THANKFUL THURSDAY
HOW CAN I HELP?

During times of uncertainty, it is normal to feel helpless and uneasy. You're not! There is power in love, compassion, and simple gestures of kindness towards others.
LETTERS OF KINDNESS

Now, more than ever, our world needs a way to connect and give gratitude for the many selfless and dedicated humans who are sacrificing their health and safety to serve us.

Our elderly population is especially isolated in assisted living or nursing care facilities.

Our medical professionals and first responders are working overtime.

Grocery store clerks are keeping food on the shelves and available for our families.

hello,

anxiety.

i acknowledge you,
i feel you inside my chest,
but it is time for you to move on.

i claim this day.
i own these moments.
my hope is greater than my fears.

Here are some suggestions to make things run smoothly:
Be creative! This is a project for anyone of any age, can be done individually, or as a family. You might write a note of thanks, draw a heart or anything you think symbolizes love, kindness, gratitude, etc...Younger children might make a card with stickers! Family and friends near and far would also love a handwritten note from you!

Examples of what you can write:
You are not alone! Sending love and a hug from (your name(s) or city).

This is a hug from me to you!

Thank you for your service and dedication.

I appreciate you!
