Governor Doug Ducey and the Arizona Department of Economic Security (DES) announced that the USDA Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) authorized DES to provide Arizona Pandemic School Meal Replacement Benefits to households with children who are eligible for free or reduced-price school meals.

For families whose children participated in the free or reduced-price school lunch program, but have not received notification, DES will create a web application for them to submit their information to the Department for processing.

To apply for Nutrition Assistance, visit healthearizonaplus.gov or call 1-855-432-7587, 7am-6pm Monday through Friday.

Eligible families will receive $69 for March, $126 for April, and $120 for May, for each child. Families that have been accessing meals from schools during the closure are still eligible for these benefits.

6 Tips to Build Resilience During COVID-19

Manage expectations. Just because you may have more time on your hands, doesn't mean you have to be super productive. If you don't meet goals you've set that are unrealistic, you begin to get hard on yourself.

Be Optimistic. To help foster a positive attitude write down one thing a day that gives you joy. At the end of the week, you'll have seven. Share them with a group of friends or family members who also share one of their moments of joy.

Establish a routine that works for you. You don't necessarily need to have a 9-to-5 day anymore with a midday hour blocked out for lunch. Maybe your new routine could be to take a lunch-hour walk.

Be compassionate with yourself and others. When people are stressed, they tend to snap at others/be short. And, because everyone's at home, that means loved ones will bear the brunt of that.

Maintain connections. Call your family. Keep in touch with friends.

Being mindful helps manage uncertainty. No one knows what the future holds, but what you do know for certain is what's happening this very moment.

COVID-19 may be impacting how your grief feels & looks. Are you finding it harder to concentrate, feeling more physical symptoms, feeling anxious or extra stressed, feeling hopeless, depressed, angry or shocked? These are normal responses in grief & in reaction to a global health crisis like we are experiencing. Take it easy on yourself & allow all the feelings to arise, sit with them, breathe & let them flow through you without judgement.

CALMING THE CHAOTIC MIND
The Benefits of Practicing Mindfulness

Mindful Responding using the STOP Method

S = Stop: Stop what you’re doing; put things down for a minute.

T = Take: Take a few deep breaths. Breathe normally and naturally and follow your breath coming in and out of your nose.

O = Observe: Observe your experience just as it is—including thoughts, feelings, and emotions. You can reflect about what is on your mind and notice that thoughts are not facts, and they are not permanent. Notice any emotions present and how they’re being expressed in the body. Research shows that just naming your emotions can turn the volume down on the fear circuit in the brain and have a calming effect. Then notice your body. Are you standing or sitting? How is your posture? Any aches or pains?

P = Proceed: Proceed with something that will support you in the moment: talk to a friend, rub your shoulders, have a cup of tea.

Treat this whole exercise as an experiment: Get curious about where there are opportunities in the day for you to just STOP

Go on a Virtual Safari
Activity to do as a Family

Explore.org has loads of wildlife webcams. (Watch giraffes eating, a family of elephants drinking, and fish swimming in a coral reef at an aquarium.) The site also offers videos about various animals when the animals aren’t in front of the cameras. Zoos such as the San Diego Zoo and Memphis Zoo also have live webcams, and the Cincinnati Zoo is now offering a series of Home Safari Facebook Live sessions at 3 p.m. ET on weekdays.
If you or your loved one are struggling right now, Psychology Today is a great resource to help you learn more about specific therapists and their specialties. Not every therapist may be the right fit for your needs, but this will allow you to have CONTROL over who you choose. You can filter through what area you live in and what insurance you have (or don’t have). Many therapists have sliding scale fees to make it more affordable to you and your family.

Help is out there, you are not alone.

SUSD APP RECOMMENDATIONS TO HELP YOU "SURVIVE" COVID-19

In this digital age, phones provide a supplemental resource to get help. Here are five apps that help teens (and adults) with mental health by helping them cope with anxiety, depression, and other concerns.

- Calm: helps users with mindfulness and meditation. The app aims to bring more clarity, joy and peace to your daily life. The app includes guided meditations, Sleep Stories, breathing programs and relaxing music.

- Sanvello: helps teens break the cycle of ongoing negative thoughts. It does this by using tools that target stress, anxiety, and depression. The app consists of psychologist-designed tools based on Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, mindfulness meditation, relaxation and mood/health tracking.

- Calm Harm: provides tasks to help users resist or manage the urge to self-harm. The app contains five categories to help you fight the urge to self-harm. Each category includes five to 15 minute activities. These activities turn users’ attention to healthier ways to handle emotions and impulses.

- My3: is a crisis support app for people who have suicidal thoughts. The app features a contact list to call in case of emergencies. The list includes three of the user’s trusted contacts, 911 and the National Suicide Hotline. My3 also includes a safety plan which lists coping strategies and distractions. It’s one of the best apps that help teens with mental health struggles that include suicidal ideation.

- MoodPath: helps teens to detect symptoms of depression. Three times a day, users receive a question about their emotional well-being. After two weeks, users will receive a professional assessment. They can then share that assessment with their healthcare professional.
If you or someone you know is struggling, you are NOT alone, reach out to a number below. Remember, you do not need to have a "crisis" to text or call a hotline and ask for support.

- Teen Lifeline Call 24/7 or Text (602-248-8336) *also available to parents and other adults who are in need of resources for their children.
